

How does EyeMax work?

EyeMax Security Guards stop crime before it happens—reducing insurance claims, premiums, and deductibles for you.

First EyeMax installs video cameras on site. Authorized users can view cameras remotely over the Internet. During closed hours, EyeMax Security Guards monitor the location. Motion sensor software alerts them of any activity, but EyeMax Security Guards are trained to know the difference between a prospect and a suspect.

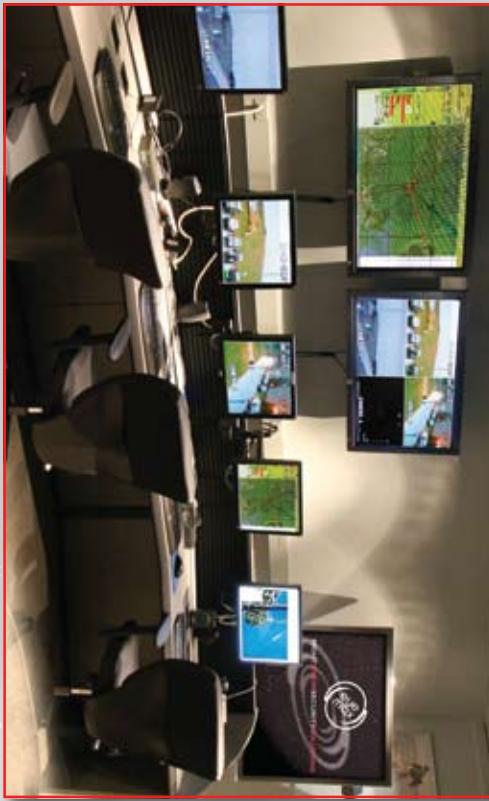

EyeMax Guards can communicate verbally to any individual using the PA system on site, preventing theft and vandalism even before police arrive. EyeMax Guards also take advantage of 360 zoom video capability to record close up views of suspects and details like vehicle license plates.

Following an incident, EyeMax emails you an alert with a video attachment. You can use the video clip to follow up with the police for prosecution.

Classic Cadillac Atlanta, GA

"We were having a lot of theft of DVD players from our Cadillac Escalades on our new car lot. I called EyeMax Security and in a very short period of time they installed 16 cameras combined with 16 existing cameras all controlled by the EyeMax Server with motion sensor software. The EyeMax Server digitally records video 24/7/365 and stores it for up to 30 days. We can go back and review video and if we have an incident, burn a CD.

EyeMax Security Guards monitor the Dealership when we are closed, remotely over the Internet, and if they see anyone suspicious, they can talk them off the lot or call the police.

The best part is one week after the EyeMax System was installed, the EyeMax Security Guards detected motion in one of our cars at 3:00 AM. With very poor lighting, they videoed the incident and called the police who arrested the guy in the process of stealing another DVD player.

I haven't had any more thefts or vandalism since then and I sleep a lot better at night knowing EyeMax is protecting my dealership."
